Famous Blue Raincoat

Angela McCluskey

It's four in the morning, the end of December I'm writing you now just to see if you're better New York is cold, but I like where I'm living There's music on Clinton Street all through the evening. I hear that you're building your little house deep in the deser t You're living for nothing now, I hope you're keeping some kind of record.

Yes, and Jane came by with a lock of your hair She said that you gave it to her That night that you planned to go free Did you ever go free?

Ah, the last time we saw you you looked so much older Your famous blue raincoat was torn at the shoulder You'd been to the station to lead every train But you never came back coming Lili Marlene So you treated my woman to a flake of your life When she came back she was nobody's wife.

Well I see you there with the rose in your teeth One more thin gypsy thief Well I see Jane's awake -She sends her regards.

And what can I tell you, and what can I tell you, What can I possibly say? I guess that I miss you, I guess I forgive you I'm glad you stood in my way.

If you ever come by here, for Jane or for me Your enemy is sleeping, and his/ your/ woman is free.

Yes, and thanks, for the trouble you took from her eyes I thought it was there for good so I never really tried.

And Jane came by with a lock of your hair She said that you gave it to her That night that you planned to go clear -

Sincerely, L. Cohen
