Dance with a Stranger

Bananarama

Scarlet lips, a silk embrace
But there's no laughter in her face
A crowded room is a lonely place full of lies

A wicked smile a shifting glance The passion light you feel at last Her pleasure somehow eased the pain Too late to chance it all again

Before we kiss the world goodbye It's only a breath away One more dance before you die So tender as the music plays

There's no emotion
Only passion in your crime
Killing the love that drives you out of your mind
When you dance with a stranger

A spinning room a cool caress A try to hide my loneliness Cheek to cheek we let the evening drift by

The hollow mask has disappeared We drown our love through salty tears We speed at night like a racing car And now I see you as you really are

Before we kiss the world goodbye It's only a breath away One more dance before you die So tender as the music plays

There's no emotion
Only passion in your crime
Love is the last thing on your mind
When you dance with a stranger

Dance...
Dance with a stranger
Dance...

Before we kiss the world goodbye It's only a breath away One more dance before you die So tender as the music plays

There's no emotion
Only passion in your crime
Love is the last thing on your mind
When you dance with a stranger

Watching and waiting
For the moment to arrive
Dance with a stranger
Love is the last thing on your mind
When you dance with a stranger

There's no emotion
Only passion in your crime
Love is the last thing on your mind
When you dance with a stranger