Another Rainy Day In New York City

Bay City Rollers

Listen to the radio A voice on the early show says i'm not alone It's just another rainy day in new york city And the rain comes pouring down Like early morning strangers we had nothing left to say but see you round. And i think of the night when it all felt so right How was i supposed to know? Now your feeling's gone 'cos when i call on the phone You told the operator say sorry, no-one's home It's another rainy day in new york city At night those city lights they sure look pretty I held my candle to the wind and watched my dreams just sail aw ay With another rainy day in new york city To think that only yesterday Life was such an easy game that i could play Now it's another rainy day in new york city And the rain comes pouring down So i'm on my own and the radio says That the sun ain't gonna shine With the words you said spinnin' round in my head You know i can't find a way to get you out of my mind. It's another rainy day in new york city At night those city lights they sure look pretty I held my candle to the wind and watched my dreams just sail aw ау With another rainy day in new york city It's another rainy day in new york city At night those city lights they sure look pretty (to fade)
