What's Wrong With George

Blacklisted

He hides his thoughts buried so deep inside In the very back of his mind Everything he can't let others know and prays that no one finds He has reasons for everything In his mind it's all justified Always so easily embrace The mirror is just two faced It hurts sometimes, but he liked the taste Didn't want to hurt anyone So he looked to the blind one above He'll need answers in time For now he'll just stand tongue tied What he feels It hurts And it kills His mind stays concealed His thoughts stay unrevealed