

Lately I feel so small
Or maybe its just that my bed has grown
I never noticed it before but you were there
So how was I to know

That this single bed
Was always meant for two
Not just anyone
It was meant for me and you

And now your halfway round the world
And im just a day behind
Nothin seems to fill the hole
That i have since you left my side
You'll always be my little girl
Though i cant hold you tonight
And now your halfway round the world
And i'm just a day behind

I wake up in the night
I turn around and find that you're not there
I just like to watch you sleep and lay by you
I love to feel you near
I think im going crazy
Everyday confusion starts to grow
I never noticed it before
But you were there so how was I to know