

Fourteen shades to summer nights we were shadowed by your light cause you and I were never faithful

I hold you up so you can fall you never seemed to care at all

don't count me out, you've waited now this needs to be the way the sun will fade

I need you to feel this way with scars outlast the pain and nothing seems to stay the same and you were never made that way when all of this seemed real just not today

sober thoughts begin to go those who waited for your fall no one needs to feel that helpless

this needs to be the way the sun will fade

just not today

no, the more we change our lives with the feelings left inside that just won't go away

just not today

I need you to feel this way
I need you to feel this way
I need you to feel this way
just not today
