Shield And Sword

Clare Maguire

You and I Felt so good to begin with, didn't we? Well, now it seems there's far too many adverts in between And we don't speak So we're left in constant silence It's haunting me So I'm ready now to fight this You have the shield I'll take the sword I no longer love you No longer love you I'm not afraid of danger in the dark I no longer love you No longer love you You and I aren't working Burning on the bridges now We're trapped inside Screaming won't somebody get me out You have the shield I'll take the sword I no longer love you No longer love you I'm not afraid of danger in the dark I no longer love you No longer love you Whoa, Whoa I no longer love you No longer love you No longer love you No longer love you And we don't speak So we're left in constant silence And it's haunting me So I'm ready now to fight this You have the shield I'll take the sword I no longer love you No longer love you I'm not afraid of danger in the dark I no longer love you No longer love you You have the shield I'll take the sword I no longer love you No longer love you I'm not afraid of danger in the dark I no longer love you No longer love you

You and I Felt so good to begin with, didn't we? But, now it seems these shield and sword are haunting me