

The End Complete IV: The Road and the Damned

Coheed and Cambria

I believe in the world right in front of me,
But now, along these empty streets.
Where this curse holds these memories of a man,
And all he's lost.

No time to think about it. No room to breathe.

If I had a way back, I'd ride through the dark and the dawn.
(But please don't wait for me)
Because the man you love don't live anymore.
I can't go home again.

Tonight you'll sleep.
No fear of what might become of me, my dear.
Within these end old days where this longing turns
This man to pray and a love that yearns to die.

No time to live and doubt it, girl,
I'm worth the second chance. (What have I done!)
No time to think about it, no room to breathe!

If I had a way back, I'd ride through the dark and the dawn.
(But please don't wait)
Because the man you love don't live anymore.
I can't go home again.

I believed in the world once in front of me, well, now that's gone.

If I had the way back, I'd ride through the dark and the dawn.
(But please don't wait for me)
Because the man you love don't live anymore.
(I can't go home again)
If I had a way back, I'd ride through the dark and the dawn.
(But please don't wait for me)
Because the man you love, don't live anymore.
I can't go home again.

Bye, goodbye. Bye, goodbye. Bye, goodbye.
Bye, bye, goodbye. Bye, goodbye. Bye my dear.