

I Won't Be Blue Anymore

Dan Seals

I won't be blue anymore
I'll go out on the town
And I'll take all my friends
Every honky tonk around
And they'll help me forget you
And the way it used to be
Then I won't be blue anymore

The only friends I've got now
Since you've been gone
Two arms that used to hold you
And the heart that surely broke
And the mind that sometimes wonders 'bout my sanity
So they made me make this promise to me

I won't be blue anymore
I'll go out on the town
And I'll take all my friends
Every honky tonk around
And they'll help me forget you
And the way it used to be
Then I won't be blue anymore

My friends are always with me
Even when I'm alone
They watch over and protect me
'Cause they know how far I've gone
They're the only ones that care now
And they knew that they could help
So they made me make this promise to myself

I won't be blue anymore
I'll go out on the town
And I'll take all my friends
Every honky tonk around
And they'll help me forget you
And the way it used to be
Then I won't be blue anymore
No, I won't be blue anymore
