Cold Addiction rising up inside, white lines cover the mirror All the voices screaming in my mind, I wanna get out of here.

Starring through a hole blind eyes ashamed A blurry vision soul dying for change Every minute fighting with myself a fiend again The river of excuses I've been drowning in Lost my head again, like I want to...

Cold Addiction rising up inside, white lines cover the mirror All the voices screaming in my mind, I wanna get out of here. Line by line I run from it all.

The symptom of a full blown addict so they say
Push it to the limit as life drip drips away
Still I love your haze, I get lost in the daze and confusion

Cold Addiction rising up inside, white lines cover the mirror All the voices screaming in my mind, I wanna get out of here. Cold Addiction racing through my veins enslave me to my fear Premonition I see it all unwind, God get me out of here. Line by line I run from it all.

Run Run Run... Yeah