

Remember

Flow

Strum the tune of your existence
And sing that you're here
A new journey is beginning now

Each of the ever-changing seasons
We live through
Gives us wisdom and strength
(Just looks like a survival game)
But when it comes to the love we left behind
In the flow of time
We've even forgotten how to forget about it

When I began to crumble I learned what loneliness was
And then we met, we're not alone

Lay your feelings bare
Along with the huge love nyou feel
The tears you cry will change your destiny
Let your heartbeat echo through the dark
We're sure to meet
At the flag of that same pain

I wandered, trying to find
Something precious that wouldn't change
Amid my ever-changing memories

Meeting you at the edge of oblivion
Gave me a small but sure warmth

Lay your feelings bare
Along with the huge love nyou feel
The tears you cry will change your destiny
Let your heartbeat echo through the dark
We're sure to meet
At the flag of that same pain

Lay your feelings bare
Along with the huge love nyou feel
The tears you cry will change your destiny
Let your heartbeat echo through the dark
We're sure to meet

Strum the tune of your existence
And sing that you're here
Let it ring out into the red moonlit sky