

I Am a Town

Jann Arden

I'm a town that has seen rather things
I've been left and forgotten
I've been slowly replace
All my strengthes their are empy
All my wondows been smashed
There's no oneleft here
Just cars go and past

I am a town that once feel the sun
All my trees and my gardens
Are lay on some white house
And my church it was singign for the sinner and the snakes
Then things was left here and all go away

How could blame the most?
Nothing stays the same
How could blame the most?
Everything must change, must change,

I am a town that had seen better days
I've been under the weather diserve and erased
All my signs that have faded walks and cry
There's no way left that they may come back, come back
