

Far Away

Junip

step in front of a runaway train just to feel alive again pushing forward through the night aching chest and blurry sight it's all far so far away cold wind blows into the skin can't believe the state your in who are you trying to impress steadily creating a mess