

Beyond The Surface

Kutless

I've been hiding, hiding for so long right behind my digital mask

I've been trying to be someone I'm not

All these perfectly fake people push us to insane ideals

They're nothing more than counterfeit images

That push me away, to bleed out the pain

Don't you dare to make another move

Put the knife away that's not what anybody needs

There's a better way than everything now that you see

Stop comparing who you are to who you want to be

Let's step out beyond the surface

Don't give in to everything the world around tells you to be

Open up your mind release yourself

Stop the lying stop comparing who you are to what you see

Never letting fear hold back the change

And push you away, to bleed out the pain

Don't you dare to make another move