

No Tomorrow

Lana Lane

There are no words to say
I see in your eyes
That you're fading away
Your crown on the floor by your side
My dream will not be denied

Now that your world is mine
No one will share in the riches I find
Your castle will burn in the sun
My will shall not be undone

No tears as I sleep tonight
My only fear is no tomorrow

Wearing this velvet gown
The power I feel
Thunders deep in the ground
White lightening strikes
Twice in the sky
Drowning out angels who cry

Now in your final bow
Hoping that starlight
Can save you somehow
And floating like ashes that burn
You drift away and never return

No tears as I sleep tonight
My only fear is no tomorrow

No tears as I sleep tonight
My only fear is no tomorrow