Severance

Lethian Dreams

Blindfold the shores guide me tight And from these wounds an amber light

Here lies the truth of one's life And all hopes where once I abided

I was on your side When the winds echoed my words

My eyes stared down And you're sailing distant waters now You're marching on haunting sounds

Blindfold the shores guide me tight And from these wounds an amber light Here lies the truth of one's life And all hopes where once I abided I was on your side When the winds echoed my words... I was on your side... I was beside you... Eternal severance The colours you're leaving to Won't be seen from my eyes The flame has died I was beside...