It's hard to loose, a heart so true
Without a fight
Lost my little angel somehow
She might as well be in Texas by now
She sure isn't here
She sure isn't in my arms
I know she's in the Goddamn town some where I drive past her house, but she's never there
She's got a new boy; she's probably in his arms

It's hard to lose, a heart so true
Without a fight
I know she drives these streets around here, but our paths neve r cross
And she's disappeared, well if I decide readmit, out of mind I' d be fine

But I lost my little angel somehow

She might as well be in Texas by now

I just want to see her, and see if she's looking for me

It's hard to lose, a heart so true, without a fight.

It's hard to lose, a heart so true, without a fight, Lord knows, without a fight

It's hard to lose

A heart so true, without a fight