

Meet Me in the Dark

Melissa Etheridge

Keep your eyes down, keep your head lowered
Keep to your self dear, do not tell a soul
You know it's wrong what they've been sayin'
And you knew all along that I would have to go

Find a place where light shines on my reflection
A place where I can stand upon my own
Not down on my knees, until then, please

Meet me in the dark, meet me in the shadows
Past the old graveyard, down Eisenhower road
Meet me where the storms blow out on their own, dear
Meet me in the dark, never let me go

I know everyone has their unspoken fear
It eats away their senses and their humanity
They carry all their secrets every night down to the river
And they try so hard to drown them, they won't do that to me

'Cause I'm workin' hard savin' all my money
And the tips in this jar will buy a brand new set of wings
For my mercury, until then, please

Meet me in the dark, meet me in the shadows
Past the old graveyard, on Eisenhower road
Meet me where the storms blow out on their own, dear
Meet me in the dark and never let me go

I could never hide this little light of mine
If God made a mistake then I should die before I wake
Maybe it's my fate to swim against this tide, swallowing my pride

Keep your eyes down, say that you don't know me
For I could not survive if they took you away

Meet me in the dark, meet me in the shadows
Past the old graveyard, down Eisenhower road
Meet me where the storms blow out on their own, dear
Meet me in the dark, meet me in the dark, meet me in the dark
