

Upside Down

Pinder, Mike

When your life is in confusion
And you cannot find a place where you feel at home
You feel so alone
Yet beyond this blue horizon
Lies a land of mystery where the future is grown
Including your own

When you feel your world is upside down
Just remember love can turn it around
And where ever life will lead you to
You're gonna find someone who feels like you

Everybody has a love light
Everybody has a right time
Everybody has a time to fall in love

Long before your own conception
Where there is no day or night or the pain of need
It then was agreed
That you would make a connection
An appointed rendezvous here in space and time
Through love's work sublime

When you feel your world is upside down
Just remember love can turn it around
And where ever life will lead you to
You're gonna find someone who feels like you

Everybody has a love light
Everybody has a right time
Everybody has a time to fall in love

Long before your own conception
Where there is no day or night or the pain of need
It then was agreed
That you would make a connection
An appointed rendezvous here in space and time
Through love's work sublime

When you feel your world is upside down
Just remember love can turn it around
And where ever life will lead you to
You're gonna find someone who feels like you

Everybody has a love light
Everybody has a right time
Everybody has a time to fall in love

Everybody has a love light
Everybody has a right time
Everybody has a time to fall in love

.
.
.