Nobody Has to Stay

Rest up in the gentle sway Sister make a flower place The mother, father, brother grace A river of stones to keep her safe

Come away with me today Everything should be okay Fill you pockets while you pray With some to eat and some to save Nobody has to stay But we wish they would anyways

It is the evening of the days Where we have chosen to remain And while you hurt with all that pain The stars will kiss your pretty face

Come away with me today Everything should be okay Fill you pockets while you pray With some to eat and some to save Nobody has to stay But we wish they would anyways
