Paper Angels

Mostly Autumn

No one knows which way the wind will blow Keeping you from your smile Being strong without hope to hold onto Stealing you from the pathway of the child

Don't you wave goodbye To paper angels and four-leaf clovers They won't leave your side

Heart-spun gold, the fairies bring your soul Dancing child within a child But anger, fear, frustration, pouring tears Have torn the magic from your sight, no question why

Don't you wave goodbye To paper angels and four-leaf clovers I'll be by your side

Oh you're so young and so beautiful Reaching out to the unknown

(Paper angel, paper angel, paper angel, paper angel)

No one knows which way the wind will blow But I promise you that you'll find As years go by, the love you have will never die See it's glow, bring the light back to your eyes