

Piece By Piece

Osker

What can you do when you feel like growing up is catching up on you?

I feel replace in a place I'm not a part of in a way I can't erase.

Piece by piece watch it break off.

This morning streets were lined with enemies and I never wanted to leave so badly.

To you this promise I'll make, without you I'd never sleep.

I've changed as much as I can.