

Starry Night

Patrick Park

Well I remember back when I was young
And king of all my days
How I never used to worry about a thing
But time it turns that page
Coz now my head is set to spin
My worries start where my worries end

And everyone's making me promises that burn like city lights
But I'd trade every single one of them for a starry night
Well my mind don't race like a spoilt child
And I feel the warm wind blow
Rolling down some dark highway
Far far away, from this big show

Well living everyday in this strange parade, it gets under my skin
It's always things you think you want the most that turn to cage you in Until you make the same mistakes, time and time again

And everyone's making me promises that burn like city lights
But I'd trade every single one of them for a starry night
Well my mind don't race like a spoilt child
And I feel the warm wind blow
Rolling down some dark highway, far far away
Down some dark highway, far far away
From this big show
