

Back You Up

Racoon

Sometimes the world is an ending and sometimes there's a hell to pay When all your so-called friends just leave you and all that's to blame seems to be you.
Then I'll back you up at least i'll try to do so

When all that you see is a darkness and all that you fear is so real When memories haunt you when sleeping and they're stabbing your stomach, I won't let you fall, cause I'll back you up

When somebody knocks you down, some other will pick you up When somebody knocks you down, some won't be there when you need them, while others will save you from harm.
Some promise the world
if you give them your world Well I hope that you know me by now

Sometimes you break expectations, it's like slapping them all in the face Sometimes you choose your own answers, forgetting the ones that all others say.
Then I'll still back you up

Sometimes the world is an ending
and sometimes there's a hell to pay