Barefoot in the sand
Wishing God would lend a hand
Wave after wave comes crashing down
Washing away a little more ground

Seems to me that's how all things are Giving and taking little pink stars

- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to touch you
- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to feel you from the inside
- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to touch you
- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to touch you

Walking along with the ocean at my heels Loving the way the water feels Up in the sky something catches my eye As bright as a star in the northern sky

Seems to me that's how all things are Giving and taking little pink stars

- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to touch you
- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to feel you from the inside
- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to touch you
- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to touch you

Seems to me that's how all things are Giving and taking little pink stars Oh oh oh

- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to touch you
- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to feel you from the inside
- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to touch you
- I want the world to know that you're mine
- I want to touch you.