It's a burden for wrong reasons
But I keep hold of this pain
No more tears but common sorrow
Yet it wears of day by day
Letting go; I never could but I surely need to heal
Sweet curse, my hell

You bare our memories like staining scars within your mind You lose all that you knew of me, gone deep inside Lost love, my hell

Sweet is the curse of hearts intwined but lost, detached but bo und

Sad is their fate without relief Cruel is the curse of love, so luscious yet so dangerous Sweet curse, our hell

Words weren't made to tell this story

For I can't describe the ache

No remorse for your betrayal

Yet though I find that hard to take

How can beauty change unseen into a monster, I don't know

Lost love is my hell

Sweet is the curse of hearts intwined but lost, detached but bo und

Sad is their fate without relief Cruel is the curse of love, so luscious yet so dangerous Sweet curse, our hell

Lost hope and lost dreams
Killing you slowly
New scars and new cravings take control
(New desire, new despair)

Losing you was more than I could bear Losing us, a dive in water deep Losing you