

Drive Dead Slow

Sahara Hotnights

he was the satisfied employee lots of so hard work and no salary the quickly thrown out Christmas tree what about all the loving and the sympathy you're just a disappointed little birthday child although your presents didn't please you and you start to cry and tonight, what are you going to do tonight?

Drive dead slow cause the road is slippery Drive dead slow 'cause it's still slippery keep it so low tonight she's the comedian queen with a cruel joke a false alarm and a poisoned coke the relentless killer without regrets and none of us phone to say: what a threat She wheels you out, She'll leave you there when it starts to blow, she'll come and she'll go and tonight, what are you going to do tonight?

And he knows how to smile when she's feeling guilt oh please leave all the hard words behind tonite!
