

Hey Moon

Sidewalk Prophets

Hey, hey moon
It's funny how time just flies
Yesterday we were just kids
Hanging in the sky
Staying up all night

Hey, hey moon
Do you ever get tear in your eye?
When you think about the time that God came down
I couldn't help myself
I had to shine so bright

I remember that newborn baby?
And the wise men that traveled so far
That's when I knew I was made for a reason
I feel like the luckiest star
Hey moon...

Hey, hey moon
It's funny how things have changed
I wish they could see the things we've seen
Before the colored lights
And Christmas trees

Hey, hey moon
So many people are searching for signs
God is stirring in their hearts
They will lift their wandering eyes
And see us shine

Then they'll remember that newborn baby?
And the wise men that traveled so far
Then they'll that they were made for a reason
I feel like the luckiest star
Hey moon...

Silent night,
Holy night
All is calm
All is bright
