

All of my life I built this armor,
And every disguise I ever wore
Ashes and dust , I made an island
Facing the end , I said what for?
Sometimes it's a battle,
At times it's a war.
But you're never defenseless.

Sometimes we all lose strength,
Please don't lose your faith.

After our time has passed
We're like light through stained glass.
We go on, and on, and on,
In the end we're never gone.

Out of the skies I shaped the silence
And from the earth I carved these walls.
A piece of the world was only mine
And then I said I wanted more.
At the edge of the blackness,
When you're stretched to the core,
Catch hold of the madness,

Sometimes we all lose strength,
Please don't lose your faith in me.

After our time has passed
We're like light through stained glass.
We go on, and on, and on,
In the end we're never gone.
I will be yours to trust,
This is not the last of us.
We'll go on, and on, and on,
In the end we're never gone.
Or erased.

Please don't lose your faith,
Please don't lose your faith
In me, in me.
