

The Journey

Small Faces

If tomorrow was today
It would yesterday
The sun is surely just a thought away
Where visions that men fail
To put to words to tale
And music that they try but cannot play

You're right it's just a dream, your company so kind
Hold very tightly please and we shall go out.