I don't know how long it takes All i know is that I can't wait much longer
I don't know what it takes All I hope is the pain will only make us stronger stronger
Is it the air in my breath that makes you afraid that I'm about to say what I never should say

To someone just like you who always gets confused between love and abuse and all the people you use Or someone just like me who can't go to sleep without falling in love without playing for keeps But we can touch the sky if we only try

I don't know
why the water breaks but the wind in my hair makes me feel like I'm someone stronger
I don't know
why I make mistakes but all I can hope is the pain will only make us stronger
stronger
Is it the air in my breath that makes you afraid that I'm about to say what I never should say

To someone just like you who always gets confused between love and abuse and all the people you use Or someone just like me who can't go to sleep without falling in love without playing for keeps But we can touch the sky if we only try

Is it the air in my breath that makes you afraid that I'm about to say what I never should say

To someone just like you who always gets confused between love and abuse and all the people you use Or someone just like me who can't go to sleep without falling in love without playing for keeps But we can touch the sky if we only try

Yeah you can touch the sky

And man you getta try