

Way Gone

SOiL

Sing a song that everybody knows
Write a song that everyone understands
A heart unbroken hasn't lived, hasn't loved, hasn't come undone

Sometimes I need to feel I'm not alone
And sometimes I need to feel a heart is shown
All my rights, trumped by the wrongs
The self I lost all it takes again to make me one

I'm way gone
I'm way gone from the years I've wasted with you
I'm way gone
Now I'm the sin eater dream breaker that I found in you

There's a need to keep an eye on lie that grows
There's a need to sometimes let these feelings go

Your sweetest lies, the ugly promises
The devil's eyes, your crowned head
The right answer to the, the wrong question to the
The wrong question to the only real answer

I'm way gone
I'm way gone from the years I've wasted with you
I'm way gone
Now I'm the sin eater dream breaker that I found in you

I'm way gone
I'm way gone from the tears that fell over you
I'm way gone
Now I'm the sin eater dream breaker that I found in you

With you... I needed more
From you... I wanted more
In you... all I found were these empty words
With you... I needed more
From you... I wanted more
In you... all I found were these empty words
From you... I needed you, I needed you

Sometimes we just need to let it go

I'm way gone
I'm way gone from the years I've wasted with you
I'm way gone
Now I'm the sin eater dream breaker that I found in you

I'm way gone
I'm way gone from the tears that fell over you
I'm way gone
Now I'm the sin eater dream breaker that I found in you
