

Fairweather Friend

Spitalfield

And you'll choke on those words no one can swallow that much pride and my contentions all ring true every word you said was a lie and I thought we were friends but you changed that in time you're too caught up in the trends with your ego on the line..

You played the role until I called you out and I really hope you listen I really hope you change things this time don't feed me that line I'm waiting for something that you'll never give never again

And this music will end and you'll move on to the next dying trend you're my fairweather friend and the signals that you send get mixed too easily another day like this could be the end of me

you played the role until I
listened I really hope you change

you played the role (*3) change things this time don't feed me that line I'm waiting for something that you'll never (*4)
