Fifty-Fifty Chance

Suzanne Vega

50-50 chance The doctor said In the cardiac room As she's lying in bed

There's a pan on the floor Filled with something black I need to know I'm afraid to ask

I hug you
I hum to you
I've come to you
I touch you

I tell you
I love you
I sing to you
Bring to you
Anything

Her little heart
It beats so fast
Her body trembles
With the effort to last

I hug you
I hum to you
I've come to you
I touch you

I tell you
I love you
I sing to you
Bring to you
Anything

She's going home Tomorrow at ten The question is Will she try it again?
