Take my hand Colors seem so black inside your head Does everything reflect the time you spend?

So tired of thinking, you You hide your face Don't ask me to excuse

I'm only laughing
Again a game, again

Some things are right I'm only laughing Again a game, again

Save your words Words, they're never there for those who try A stranger in a world, no longer mine

Sometimes I'm feeling used I'll change my place I'd sooner be excused

You're only laughing Again a game, again I'm only laughing Again a game, again

Some things are right I'm only laughing Again a game, again

There are times I confess I'm not easy to accept So come find, I'll react I'm a reason to be there

They're only laughing Again a game, again

I'm only laughing
Again a game, again