

Nature's Dark Passion

The Damned

I've seen a light, haunting and bright
That won't give me any rest day and night
I heard a refrain it echoes your name.
I hear it again, again and again
And I cant let it go
Its madness I know
This feel that's churning and burning and tearing my soul
I'm in a story both funny and cruel
But am I the hero?
Or am I the fool?
A touch of your keys, unlocks and unfree's
But am I a prisoner or am I set free?
Natures dark passion has something to teach
But I let it go now its out of reach
The majestic force of a tidal wave
Washes over my head
Making me a slave
The power of these feelings that you gave me
I lie here awake
Did I make a mistake?
The sky grows dark
A storm musn't break
Life is unkind I'm loosing my mind.
My contract with fate is sealed and its signed
The demon, its poison has taken its toll
Chaos and madness have fractured the whole
But what can i do? This vision of you
Has branded my heart
And sealed my soul
The majestic force of a tidal wave
Washes over my head
Making me a slave
The power of these feelings that you gave me.
