

Colonies

The Foreshadowing

We fell asleep as we settled in the town
Helpless, torn and painless
Before the journey we sat beside the fire
To speak our final promise
And I'm waiting
We are waiting
For the inner fate to save our life

The path was empty, uncovered in the night
Stones were cold and flaming
But I'm waiting
We are waiting
For the inner fate to save our life

And in the name of the western homicide
We built our empire
Our sun was shining like crystal in the eyes
All around was faded

Now I'm fading
We are fading
Our inner fate destroyed our life
And I'm fading
We are fading
Our hidden fame destroyed our life