The Getaway Plan

We, we could fall off the earth Between the sheets I know

I'm having trouble sleeping
Been counting sheep
I think I'll miss your supple heart the most

Feel free
To push me first
How else am I supposed to know?

And your words have been foreseen So let's take a moment dear Just to find some room to breathe

But your lips, they feel...

And we, we could fall to the floor Between your thighs I know This lifestyle has been sleeping Been counting hours Until the clouds become thick smoke

Let's just fall... [x3]

And your words have been foreseen So let's take a moment dear Just to find some room to breathe

And your words have been foreseen So let's take a moment dear Just to find some room to breathe
