Hate You

The Restarts

You might think we cant touch you But the hatred runs strong You've been spending too much time Trying to put us down I know where you belong coz we still

Hate you

Multinational misery your whims control our fate Millions of people in poverty the new world you create Arms dealer politician cunt feel the threat of our hate