

I'll Sleep When I'm Dead

The Wedding

Well if we go, we go the distance
We go all out
And if you force us to fight we go for the knockout.
We haven't always been the same men
We are today
It took fire to purify us what didn't burn is what remained.

If we run then we run,
But we won't be the same
Leaving excuses for the weak
If we run then we run, but we won't be the same.
And we'll only have ourselves to blame.

We are growing ever stronger
The more we die
The enemy will never take us
Will never take us alive
Sometimes it's with our eyes closed that we find our sight
Sometimes it's in the darkness
We see the light

Today I stopped asking what it means
And just believed.
You gotta believe
Right now
And now the truth of it is
We already got all that we'll ever need
Oh! come on woo
And now the truth of it is
We already got all the we'll ever need
