

You Won't Pass

This Is A Standoff

There's no correlation between comedy and pain
Just no sense, just a crowd, just a million people wondering where's theirs
I said the world won't leave you lying here adjusting to this game
You just won't bother missing all those sleepless nights
I'm suffering for you

It's brought me nothing but lots of wasted memories
I can't believe you're waiting just to get fucked up by fallacies
Along with clusters of writing tests that you won't pass
I won't accept these vicious tales, I won't except these lies

They played till exertion till it brought them to their knees
Never time, never love pushed a yacht designed for shipwreck while in tow
You said the world won't let you ridicule yourself against it's wane
You just won't bother missing all those best forgone relationships won't you?

It's brought me nothing but lots of wasted memories
I can't believe you're waiting just to get fucked up by fallacies
Along with clusters of writing tests that you won't pass
I won't accept these vicious tales, I won't except these lies
