Faint Mystery

Trixie Whitley

Night was clear sweet and heavy with stars Faint release upon mysterious grounds

Welcomed him home to set up reverie She could finally forget the song of his footsteps

She's a wild animal made to devour or dissolve within Within his tainted fears

Beyond the limits imposed they name no time for wasting Night was clear sweet and heavy with stars

Faint release upon their fine mystery