Let the Children Go

We hold each other In the dead of night And the end begins When innocence dies In their eyes Asking us why Must they die And live And love And life goes on

After the sun sets The time to sleep Without dreams We have nothing Ulver