

Changing Times

Walls of Jericho

Times have tried
Now you and I must complete the cycle
When equality cant be built in a day
Where do we go from there?
To divide us is to separate
Let's turn and start again
Where do we go from here?
Every opportunity is there
When standards can be met
Because the difference is what you and I make of it
Break it down - I'll try if you try
But equality can't be built in a day
So I'll follow with time on my side
I'll keep trying while you push through this wall that you let divide
You and I
