

May Your Glass Be Filled

Widespread Panic

May your family share laughter
Your songs always play
May your wishes come true
Even those left unprayed
Hand on my shoulder
Gentle cloud on the hill
May your heart's doors be open
Forever and ever, may your glass, it be filled

Like a wheel to the river
A mother's moon and sun
Dreams against the wind
Oh, and lifetimes undone
Over and over
And over again
I was made stronger
Forever and ever, knowing you as my friend

On the streams of tomorrow
Blessed days out swim sorrows
As we float on reawaked dreams

On the streams of tomorrow
Blessed days out swim sorrows
As we float on reawaked dreams

May your family share laughter
Your songs always play
May your wishes come true
Even those left unprayed
Hand on my shoulder
Gentle cloud on the hill
May your heart's doors be open
Forever and ever, may your glass be filled
