

London Town

William Control

Hate, I would forever lie
I would fake all the times,
That you broke me down misery
Hate, covered in broken glass,
My skeleton bones will last,
Far beyond flowers and dust

So where would I be?

Love, the feeling I've lost control,
Failing so beautiful
When you left me there misery
Hate, blacken my artery
Harden my every
Fiber of grief stricken love

So where would I be?

Sadness in London town
I walk the streets of Leicester square
Sadness in my own heart sound
I walk till dawn then disappear

Hate, I would forever lie
I would fake all the times,
That you broke me down misery
Hate, covered in broken glass
My skeleton bones will last,
Far beyond flowers and dust

Where would i be?

Sadness in London town
I walk the streets of Leicester square
Sadness in my own heart sound
I walk till dawn then disappear