White Lies

Wynter Gordon

These little white lies Sometimes necessary Cause when I tell the truth It can be kinda scary I don't wanna deal with your Reaction A slap to the face won't leave much satisfaction

Take my tongue and tie it in a knot Use it as a pillow for the shock (You can) swear at me with everything you got But if I told you I would break your heart

Just so you know This is the last time that I lie to you I will not run over myself for you This is the last time

Suck it up like water on a mop Make it like in bed when I'm on top Counting every single second on the clock Knowing I'll wake up soon I'll stop

Just so you know This is the last time that I lie to you I will not run over myself for you

Just so you know This is the last time that I lie to you I will not run over myself for you

Just so you know This is the last time that I lie to you I will not run over myself for you

Just so you know This is the last time that I lie to you I will not run over myself for you

Just so you know This is the last time that I lie to you I will not run over myself for you
