Another child is born Another race is won Another dream is shattered Another day has begun

This world is still afloat No not in Noah's boat We've only lost the vision Of the stars we're meant to be

Another broken heart
Another lesson learnt
Another harvest eaten
Another night is gone
A new day's begun
Even your dreams they can be real

This world is still afloat No not in Noah's boat We've only lost the vision Of the stars we're meant to be

This world is still afloat No not in Noah's boat We've only lost the vision Of the stars we're meant to be

This world is full of love
We still have hope
This world is full of love
We still have hope
This world is full of love
We still have hope
This world is full of love
We still have hope
This world is full of love
We still have hope
This world is full of love
We still have hope
This world is full of love
We still have hope